

Principal's Message

For most of you, this has been a year of change. Those of you in grade 7 have had a new school, several teachers and a timetable for the first time. For the rest of the school, new timetables, reorganization of classes and electives have been only a few of the changes you have seen.

These changes in education will continue whether you are at Oakdale or elsewhere next year. To some, these changes are disturbing problems, to others exciting challenges. No matter how you view these changes, they will continue. The days of established rigid school programs are probably gone forever. Our society now appears to be in a constant and rapid process of change and you must be prepared to effectively meet the challenges offered by change.

Adaptability is one of the most essential characteristics that you must develop to meet these changes. During your few years of formal education this characteristic will serve you well in the complex and often confusing organizations of secondary school and university life. The training gained here will be an invaluable aid as you reach maturity. It is a common occurrence today to hear of adults becoming involved in retraining programs, adapting themselves to a changing economy.

If change is to become a way of life for you, then you must prepare now to become as flexible and adaptable as possible in our modern fluctuating society.

Vice-Principal's Message

Although we consider your academic progress of great importance, we do not think you should be judged by your classroom deeds alone. At Oakdale we believe that participation in extra-curricular activities as important in the development of good school citizenship and attitudes of service and leadership. Students who make outstanding contributions in these fields should be recognized along with our top scholars.

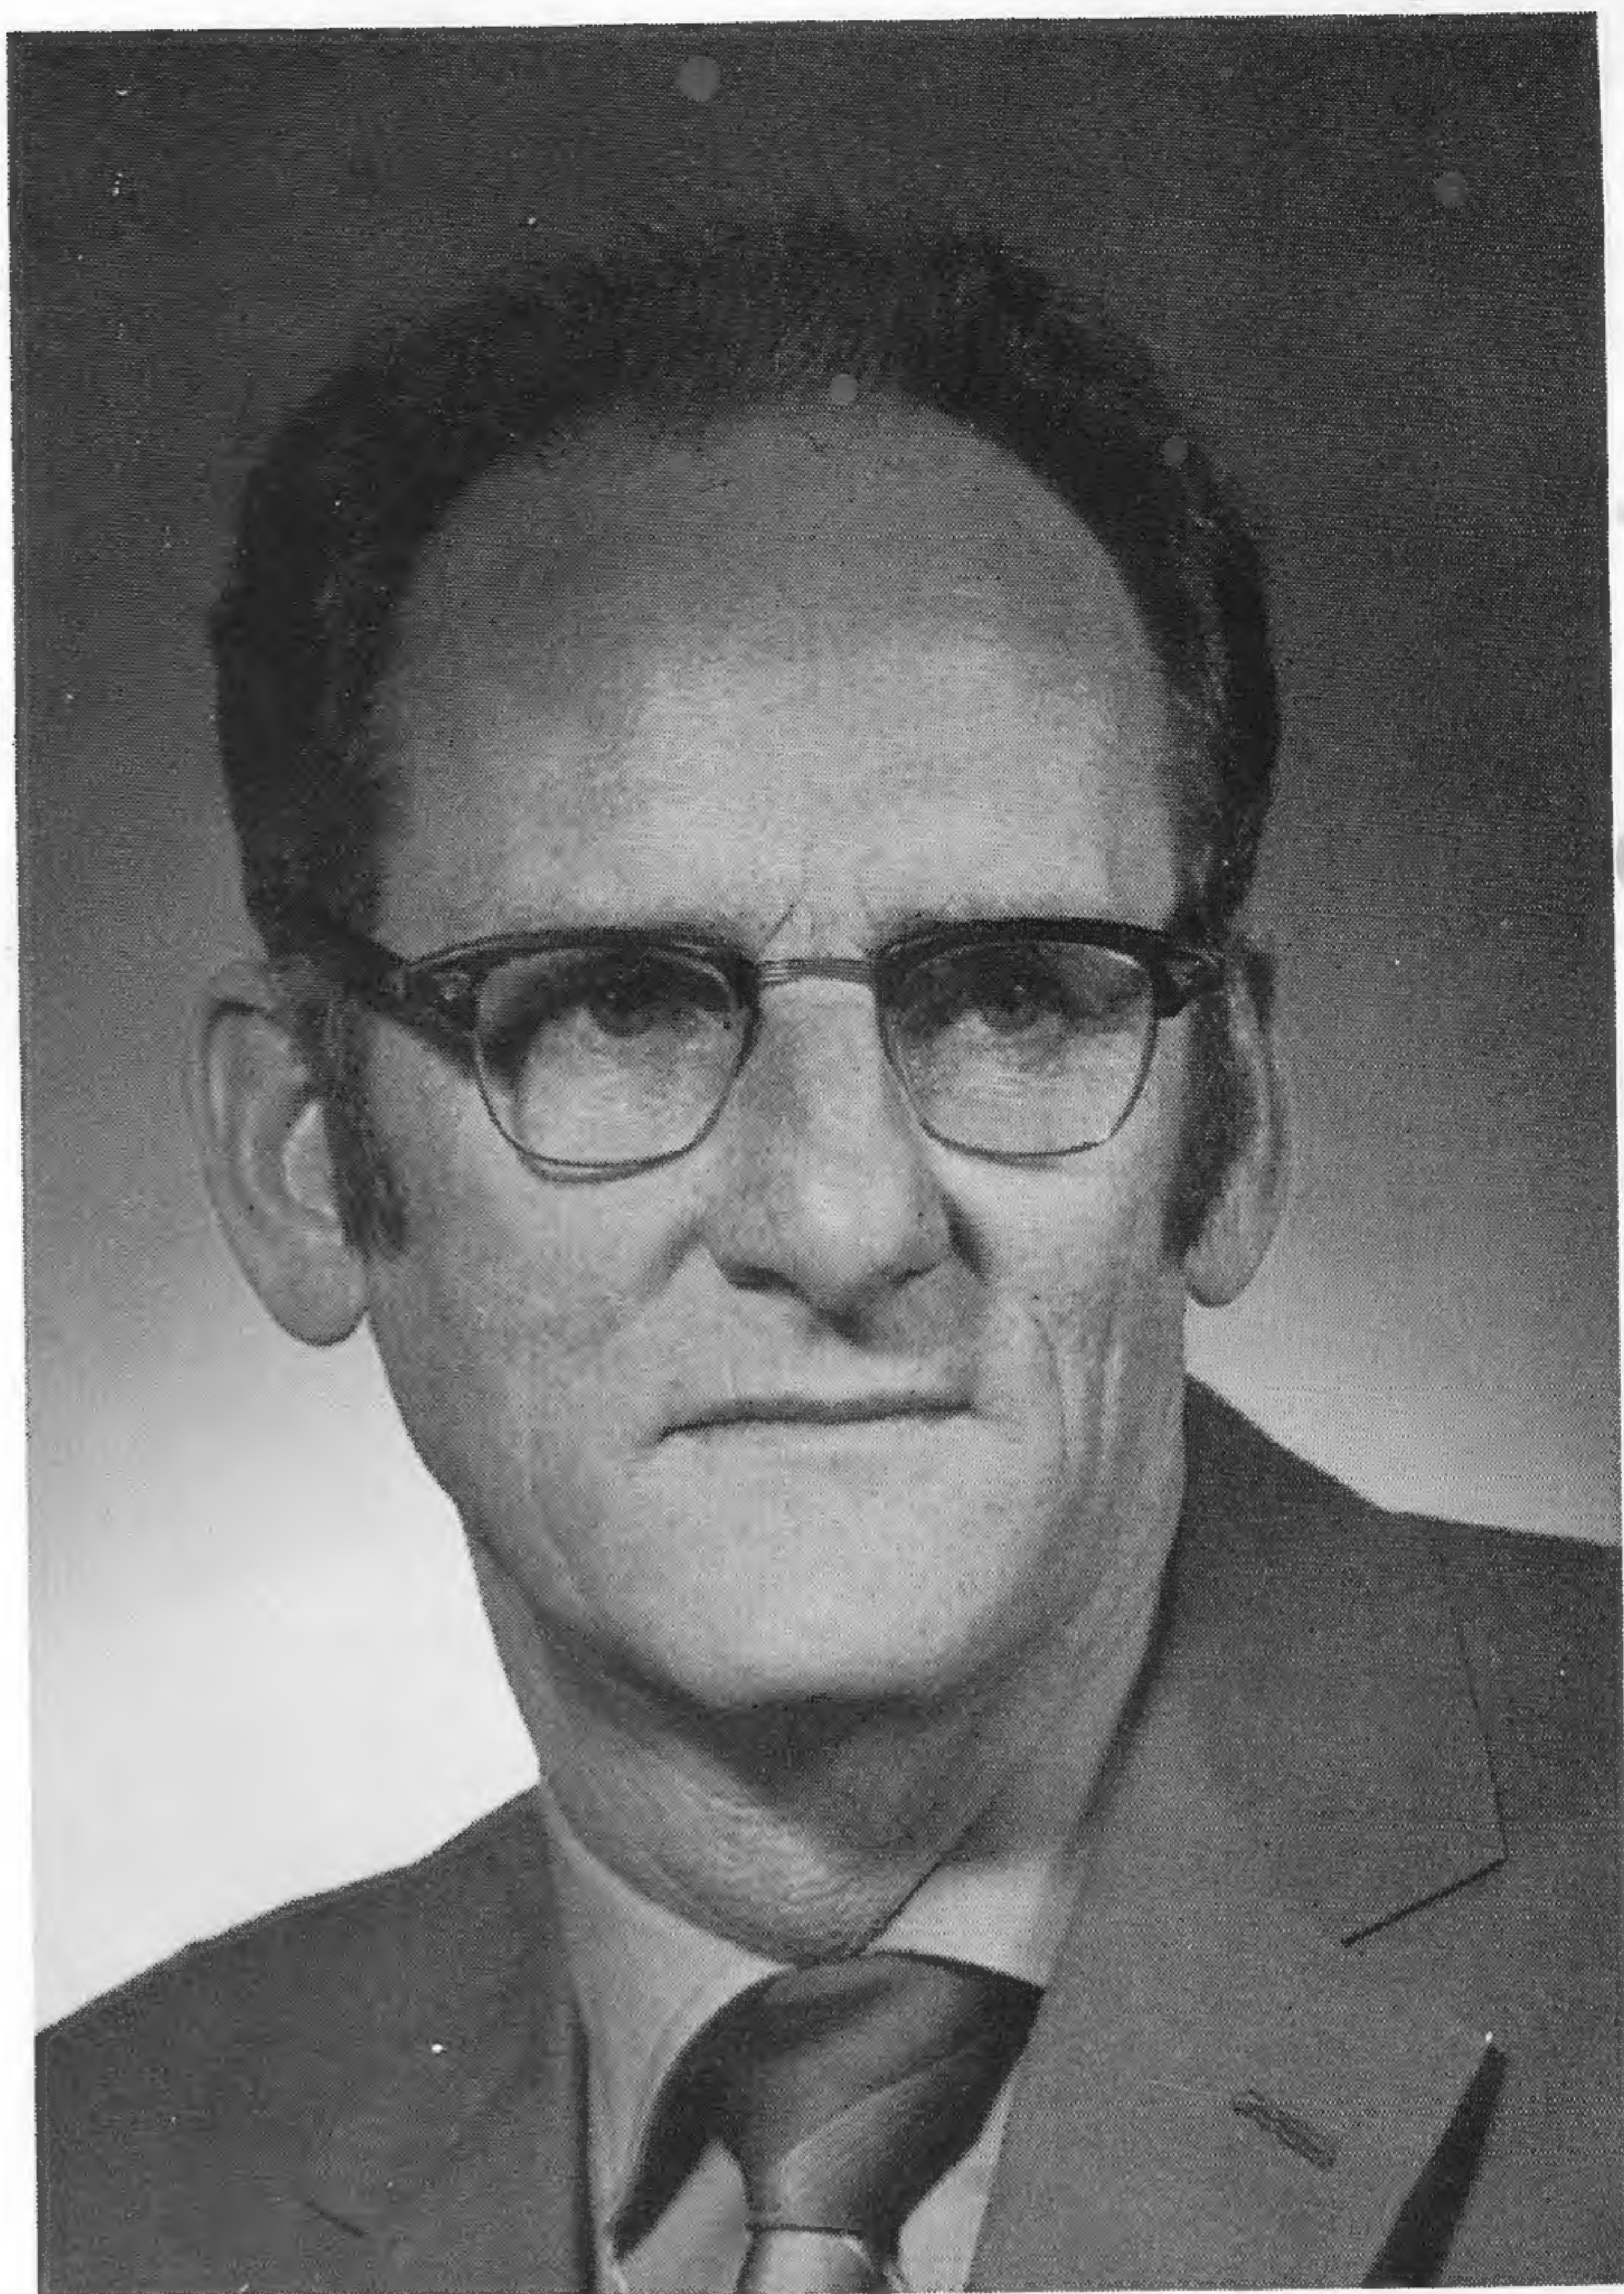

"Reflections" is a record of the achievements of Oakdale students in all fields during 1970-1971. I am sure you will cherish the memories it inspires for years to come. Congratulations to Mrs. Michaels and all the students who have made this publication a resounding success.

Chairman's Message

George Bernard Shaw once, said that England and America are two countries separated by the same language; some modern educational philosophers question whether teachers and students in the large public schools are two groups separated by the same educational system. If there is some truth in the remark, the fault lies with neither group alone, but with both and with society at large. It is our common responsibility to examine the purposes of education continually and to ensure that public institutions enhance rather than diminish these purposes.

What then are the purposes of education? In a complex society such as ours, education must necessarily serve both an individual and a social purpose. As individuals, we want the opportunity of discovering our talents and following our curiosities; as members of society, we are obliged to contribute to the common weal, which requires an understanding of the human condition, its past history and its future prospects.

In the years immediately ahead, we face some special problems, such as pollution, decreasing quality of the environment, and survival as an independent nation state. Solutions to these problems will require a common and concerted effort, involving in particular the idealism and energy of youth.

Best wishes for 1971.

Class 71

71

Hi! This is 71 speaking, you know the good class? Our class likes sports and it's a wonder they are not the gym teachers. With the girls in figure training, by the time they get through with the barbells, the girls will look and be stronger than any male member of the class. The boys could have a pet guarantua for each of them. The boys are probably trying to look just as fit as the girls. The girls in square dancing will have a great time dancing with the boys, if I know K. and C. Well how do you like it so far? . . . you better, because it's finished. So long, we know how we brightened up your year-book.

Class 72

72

The favourite subjects of class 72 seem to be Science and English. The things that make us like these subjects are either the teachers or what we do. Jane Parravano seems to like English because she enjoys to read. The people in our class think that Santina Alonzi, Maria Felice, Jane Parravano, Cheryl McGarth, and Irma Lister are the browners of the class.

3RD ROW: Cheryl McGarth, Gail McDowell, Mirella Mercuri, Santina Alonzi, Irma Lister, Carol Pursey, Cathy Banella, Don Smith, Santina Pizzuti. 2ND ROW: Cathy O'Brien, Alan Lynch, Furio Orologia, Eddie Gionet, Jane Parravano, Jayne Priest, Hardy Poppler. 1ST ROW: Joe Mariano, Vaughn Arsenault, Bill Jenkins, Malcolm Mercer, Ramona Cascanette, Linda Standring, Juergen Braunhoeler.

73

Class 73 consists mainly of the following people: Susan, Jody, Pina, Wendy, and Ivana. We would not know the rest of the class exists, if they didn't breathe heavily; (groan, moan, oooahh, sigh!) Their favourite subject is Science because they love to drive Mr. Scholz buggy. Isn't it especially fun when your teacher knows what he's doing? Mornings are usually the same. The girls talk about their stars, some great movie they watched, or their homework. The boys usually argue or play games. Of course everybody likes lunch!

Class 74

74

Class 74 is well known for exercising their mouths. The girls are known for chasing Mrs. Smallbridge's 99 boys. Sandi Snow is known for going crazy over the men teachers like Mr. Macey, Mr. Simpson, and especially Mr. Wareham. 74's best class is Science with that cute teacher, Mr. Dolfanie. The day starts off very quiet and ends up wild. 74 is also known for being popular with Mr. Plumpton. Mr. Plumpton thinks 74 exercises their mouths too much, so every once in a while he comes in and . . . ?

4TH ROW: Peter Domenichello, Linda Manucci, Diana Kornek, Terry Vincenzo, Ronald Bartley, Mr. Almack, Paula Kelly, Karen Martin. 3RD ROW: Terry Alford, Bob Hawyrsio, Albert Fuller, Vince Falcon, Cathy Procopio, Mike Winrow, Mike McClelland, Irene Lane. 2ND ROW: Laurel Fretz, Charlene Krowtowski, Mary Tirkalas, Vera Bodnar, Margaret Lynch, Dawn Cornish, Sylvia Deursonbien. 1ST ROW: Craig Gillis, Mike Winrow, Gary Baver, Bill Michor, Albert Morosin, Ron McEachern.

Class 77

At Farrelly's we hurry!
77 is so good, that the teachers wear a bullet proof vest. Our class talks so much that we beat Mr. Elliott to the announcements. Teachers trust us so much, they have eyes in the back of their heads. Our playing in music is so bad that the instruments just get up and run . . . grade 7? . . . just great at Oakdale.

The first concert which was on Tuesday, December 15 was at Yorkwoods Gate Public School. On Wednesday, December 16, we played at Stanley Road Public School; on the 17th, at Calico Public School. This time the strings came with us and performed four selections: Good King Wenceslas, Silent Night, Jingle Bells, and Aura Lee.

Our Exchange Concert with Jane Junior High proved quite enjoyable. At Jane we played three selections: Pacific Grandeur, Anchors Aweigh and Adagio Allegro. We are looking forward to a trip to Oshawa in the very near future . . . wonder what we're going to do there??

The Walker

Quiet night streets
Sounds of dripping water Cats tipping garbage cans Wind blowing between light and dark
The walker comes.

Tipped hat Distinct heel
Rhythmic click

Buses honking Motors humming
Crowded sidewalks
People walking Past each other
Across the street
On the street
Feet moving Horns, whistles.

Burned ash darkens
Exhaust fumes smell
Dusky sky lingers, Listen . . .

The walker comes . . .

Silence

Let there be silence
For this man is dead

There is no blood in this hollow cheek.

No strength in his crossed hands.

No light in his eyeless head.

No warmth in his Silent heart.

Let him be buried quickly and quietly.

For there is to be Silence.

Let there be only memories of him.
While he goes down for an ever lasting sleep forever
enrolled in Silence.

This man is Dead.

by Pina Spagnuolo

Children

Hungry children,
No clothes to wear,
diseased and pale,
their feet are bare.

Thin, worn bodies,
and sunken eyes,
They plead every day,
the very same cries,

But the world is deaf,
and also blind,
not caring to soothe a stricken mind.

by Mary Laurella

It

Peering down,
It stares.
A statue,
It stands.
Then in the air,

It leaps.

Reaches out to grab,
Falls into a bundle.
Rolls along the grass.

Rolls along the grass.
Uncoiled
It stops Confused.
Lithe silhouette,

Life

Life starts in a womb,
Very small,
very new.
As a candle flame
It grows . . .

Life bows to nature,
A candle flickers
in the breeze.
Life gives out warmth, brightness
The candle shines
in glory.
And soothes our cold minds.

Yet Time always rules.
Life
has beginning and end.
Life,
a short flash
in all Time,
A candle
when lit, burns and dies.

by Mara Zalcmanis

To Perceive

Is to question,
to wonder to search,
for the eye,
of knowledge.

To feel as only one can.
To permit thought,
in any direction.

To envision,
the future,
with courage,
To once again perceive.

by Cidalia Paiva

They

They pollute our air
They trample our paths
They read thoughts
They rule our lives
they condemn our hair . . .
do they hate us?

They find our mistakes
They refuse to listen
They choke our ideals
They condemn for our sakes do they despise us?

They say its good
They do their best
They forget past days do they love us?

Oh French Night! The hustle and bustle, fancy costumes, exotic makeup and all that hard work! To tell the truth, the teachers suffered more than our young pretty actresses. While Mrs. Yumen was sweating buckets and having fits, the other worn out teachers would just heave heavy sighs and shake their heads. Our motto was "Practice makes perfect" and boy did we love every second of it. Our costumes finally arrived . . . utterly smashing can-can outfits and exotic green skirts. Finally! The night was here . . . running up and down the halls, from stage to make-up room 207, tripping on our skirts, getting mascara all over our mouths, and putting on our blouses inside out . . . not to mention driving Mr. Smith crazy along with Mr. Gray, both of whom were backstage . . . all our giggling and carrying . . . well, with our fantastic stage crew and "camera nutty" Mr. Campoli, none of this would have been the same . . . VIVE LA FRANCE, or shall I say, "Here we come, Quebec."

Oral Arts Festival was a great experience for the students of Oakdale. Mrs. Coleman heard many auditions from all three grades. Three groups were picked to represent our school. The first group consisted of four grade nine students: Maria Vincenzo, Mary Cacamo, Shirley Fess, and Denise McHay. The second was made up of Denise Naples and Wendy Rogers, both grade eight students. The third, our most famous, was made up of Joe Focarino, Christine McClusky and Debbie Smith. This group was picked to represent Oakdale's entry to the Oral Arts Festival. The skit entitled "The Dentist" was extremely funny. This particular group travelled all over Toronto to many other schools.

The Drama Club all began with weekly meetings for anybody interested in the production of a play. There were instruction sessions for people who wanted to work at make-up and lighting. Then came auditions for students who wanted to act in a one-act play. Next came the hardest part--waiting to see if you had been chosen for a part. A week passed and a piece of paper was pinned to the bulletin board in the cafetorium. The names of the actors, actresses and standins were written on it. Anxious faces looked at it excitedly but not all walked away happy. Two days later, the scripts were handed out to enthusiastic students. "Reindeer on the Roof" was the name of the play and everyone worked madly to have their lines memorized because the play rehearsals were beginning the following week. The final performance was a huge success . . . worth the effort we had all put in.

JAZZ CLUB-

Jazz Club is made up of a group of girls who are interested in music and dancing. The leader of the group is Mrs. Barrett, assisted by Denise Naples. When the club meets they play jazz and popular music, improvising routines for dancing. This part is usually taught by Denise who has taken many years of dance lessons. Mrs. Barrett is the one who teaches the preparatory exercises, which sometimes include a little yoga. We meet every Wednesday at 8 a.m. This is terrible for the girls who enjoy to sleep in until the last minute . . . we always manage to appear, though. We hope to be performing in the Spring.

Reflections

Oakdale '71 - Many activities go on at Oakdale all year around. First of all, we had two drives for glasses which we sent to Jamaica, the parts of which were to be re-used in the making of new glasses for other kids to wear. The second drive was for food. Many of the students gave canned food for less fortunate families during Christmas. The United Appeal is always a big week at Oakdale. Lena, our Miss United Appeal, helped in our fund raising project. We also held a dating game with many of the teachers. For a certain fee, they could find out whom they would be best suited to. Then on Feb. 12th, 13th, came French Night. The money raised from this project went to pay for the students' trip to Quebec. The grade nines have had trips to courts, an Indian reservation, and the Stratford Festival. The grade sevens have enjoyed their excursions to Cedar Glen, working in the great outdoors. After school activities included an art club, drama club, and film club. Our open night program proved most successful as well. Students came back to Oakdale on Monday and Tuesday nights to participate in an evening of sports and recreation.

We hope the yearbook has reflected Oakdale's great school spirit, its terrific kids, and the special efforts of many of its teachers.
